

THINKING

24 Jan 25

"The more we generate thoughts, the busier we are mentally and the more convinced we are of our existence" - Rinzochu.

Cutting through Literal Materialism, p 10

"If you want to reach Enlightenment, you need to decrease speed of thinking."
Alex

Would be a good start, → I would say intensity more than speed.

What I mean, even if you decrease the speed of thinking to almost 0, all you do is still thinking!

Thinking has to be put part into thinking, I see it as a tool, i.e. a knife, a sword, you use it and be decisive, then you don't play with it all day, unless it is for purposeful training.

also, by observing our thinking, we do not need to identify with it, we can observe it as if we were observing a sea of clouds or a river.

The more we generate thought, the busier we are mentally.