"As an artist who wishes to experience it's subject, beyond anatomy, beyond, duplication of an experience, replication of an "original"..."

An artist who wishes to be, like and create in the present moment!

The Cherry Blossom is really challenging - from it's first impression, to it's study!

it took me 16 years to get into it; to realize it's importance in so many levels...

Working to get deep and deep into the experience!

Grasp a moment that can not be caught...

The impression of the moment!!! Not the "projection".

Ungraspable

"Telle une graine de sable qui glisse entre les doigts".

How many springs do I have left, to get at the heart of it's wisdom..

As the further you age!...

The deeper it presents it self as you learn to appreciate through maturity: and by then, it is gone.
