

Shinrin Visual Practice

As I am still going deep into a wide net of search, attempting to describe the experience I wish to share with others.

I am reminded that I am alone all, to speak, a visual practitioner.

The Shinrin sense brings me back to the origin of the sensation. The perfection of the 'mind', complete, when one finds refuge.

Beyond definition is union.
Beyond analysis is experience.
Beyond the idea of an idea is empty.

SOFT EDGE # SOFT EDGE

- The Soft edge is a
- Allowing to experience beyond definition
- Being without boundaries.

a description of the sensation

a pulse

A trace without definition

→ practice, visualize the sense within. draw it.

metaphor with the mind. #mind

IF the paper is the light,
(if you never add white),

IF each mark subtracts from something that was already there!?

→ spiritual compass?

! we are uncovering rather than building? Reserve not highlight.

- decision about whatness?
(explore and describe through practice).

-

Realisation!

Shussho Ito - Dogen Zenji, about practice and realization.

shu → practice

sho → realization as the fruition of practice

ito → oneness and equality

→ oneness and equality of practice and realization.

one and inseparable.

The "Self" is originally buddha.

↳ self? mind? experience?
consciousness!